FEB. 25, 1852.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF HANOVER, For the Year ending March 9, 1852.

The Superintending Committee take pleasure in reporting, that the Schools in town have the past year done remarkably well, much better as a whole than the year before. There has been less insubordination, a better discipline, and more undivided attention to study. Still, our schools are susceptible of much improvement. A large number of our school-houses are cold and inconvenient. In District No. 5, the teachers think, nearly one-half of the value of the school, the past winter, was lost by a cold and uncomfortable school-house. A new school-house, with two large, convenient rooms, is very much needed in this District, for a profitable school. Our school-houses are in general our poorest buildings, and many of them entirely unfit for the purposes of instruction. There is not only a loss of time, but health is endangered, life itself often sacrificed, and morals corrupted, by obscene and indecent figures. Our schools can never be, what they ought to be, until these uncomfortable, dilapidated hovels give place to neat and convenient edifices.

When a school-house is to be built, let it be erected after the best models, and not in too parsimonious style, as it is generally done for a whole generation. Let the spot selected, be retired and quiet, away from every thing that can injure the taste, defile the morals, or distract the attention. From one-half to a whole acre should be enclosed by a neat and substantial fence, encircled by trees, and embellished with whatever can make the spot lovely and attractive, that all the early associations of school may be pleasant. A school-house should be a neat and commodious building, with a spacious room or rooms as may be needed from the size of the school. Each scholar should have a separate desk, and chair, adapted to the age, all upon the same side of the room, facing the teacher's desk. A black board should extend as far around the room as possible, that any number of scholars may be engaged before it at the same time. The room should be suitably warmed with proper fuel, well ventilated, the desks neatly painted and every injury promptly repaired by the transgressor. Suitable closets and every convenience necessary for the school should be provided. Order is much more easily maintained in such a building, than where a school-house is considered a public nuisance and those regarded as benefactors, who endeavor to destroy it, and the school will be of double value.

In a considerable number of our schools, whispering is suppressed ; in others it is still too prevalent. The Committee believe if any whispering is allowed, it generally becomes so prevalent, as to materially injure the school.— They do not expect our schools will attain the perfection desired, until whispering and play are entirely driven from them. Large scholars sometimes object to such regulations, and make trouble. But if a scholar cannot be made to feel that the hours of school are not designed for mere amusement, but simply for study and improvement, he had better be at home than at school.

Our schools suffer much from irregularity in attendance. Many scholars generally are late in attendance, and frequently absent. Such scholars disturb others, are unprepared to proceed successfully with their classes, and nearly lose the whole benefit of a school. Parents and guardians, who wish those under their care to improve well, should see that they are prompt and punctual in attendance.

Parents do not visit schools and cooperate with teachers as the good of our schools require. In any other business those under our employ are carefully inspected. If all the inhabitants of a District were expected often to visit our schools, it would, no doubt, impart a new stimulus to both teachers and pupils, that would be of great service to the schools. Many erroneous impressions, by such a course would be corrected ; and where there were faults, a teacher might be lead to rectify them.

Parents should be the friend of the teacher in sustaining good order. Even if all the regulations are not wise, or if a scholar is somewhat abused, while the course of a teacher is in general judicious, it would be better to be silent, than to make trouble, withdraw a scholar from the school, or, perhaps, break it up.

During the season of school, parents should see to it, that it is the great business of their children ; that not only in the hours of school, but evenings and other intervals of leisure, that this is the great object they have in view. By thus cooperating with a teacher, parents may make the school of double value to their children.

In some of our schools, scholars are not sufficiently thorough. Better to make but little advancement, and have that knowledge incorporated into our intellectual being, than to pass over much ground, in such an imperfect manner, as to forget it almost as soon as it is acquired. Some scholars make about the same proficiency in Adams' Arithmetic, and some other branches, for ten years in succession, without making scarcely any advancement. Let knowledge be acquired in that thorough manner, that a slight review will make past studies familiar, and they will be prepared, in every subsequent school, to advance upon new ground and make new acquisitions.

Although these and some other defects might be mentioned, as impairing the value of our schools, yet it cannot be denied, that in general they have been excellent and many of them of a high order. In some Districts the amount of school money is small, as will be seen, although fourteen dollars have been appropriated from the public funds to each District in addition to the school tax there raised. Such Districts need to husband with great care their resources, to impart a suitable education to the young residing in them. To their credit it may be said, that in some of these Districts, there are found some of the best scholars in town.

 Prudential Committees, Teachers or others, who may have the school records of the past year, are desired to forward them soon to the Superintending Committee.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

SUMMER SCHOOL—First Division.

60 Scholars—20 weeks.

Was commenced by Miss Wealthy Ann Hitchcock, and finished by Miss Lucy Jane McMurphy. Each teacher displayed commendable wisdom and zeal in the advancement of their pupils.

Second Division—70 scholars—18½ weeks.

Taught by Miss Ada Tenney.

A well managed and successful school.

Third Division—40 scholars—10 weeks.

Taught by Miss Hannah Corey ; a prosperous school.

WINTER SCHOOL—First Division.

64 scholars—10 weeks.

Taught by Mr. T. W. Bruce, who kept a school of rare merit, established wholesome regulations, imparted thorough instruction, and advanced successfully his pupils.

Second Division—70 scholars—8 weeks.

Taught by Miss Lucy Jane McMurphy, with good discipline and fine improvement.

School Money, $311,61.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

SUMMER SCHOOL—12 weeks—23 scholars.

WINTER SCHOOL—12 weeks—28 scholars.

Taught by Miss Ann W. Smith. Under the wise and efficient arrangements of the teacher the school made good proficiency. The walls of the school-room were covered with many valuable mottoes. Singing was practised in this school.

School money, $53,53.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

SUMMER SCHOOL—15 scholars—12 weeks.

Taught by Miss Adaline L. Smith. The teacher was young, but maintained respectable order and promoted fair improvement.

WINTER SCHOOL—8 weeks—22 scholars.

Taught by Miss Lavina H. Ross, with her usual ability and success, advancing rapidly her scholars.

School money, $43,71.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

SUMMER SCHOOL—12 weeks—20 scholars.

Taught by Miss Helen A. Bridgman; a well governed and profitable school.

WINTER SCHOOL—12 weeks—29 scholars.

Taught by Mr. Robert C. Haskell, with good order, thorough instruction, and fine proficiency.

School money, $72,70.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

SUMMER SCHOOL—12 weeks—24 scholars.

Taught by Miss M. Adaline Dewey. The school was thoroughly instructed, and made good improvement. A greater degree of strictness would have made the school still better.

WINTER SCHOOL—First Division.

8 weeks—38 scholars.

Taught by Miss Emeline F. Wright, with marked ability and success. Whispering and every species of disorder were triumphantly suppressed. The instruction imparted was of the most thorough kind. The improvement was very decided and satisfactory.

Second Division—8 weeks—12 scholars.

Taught by Miss Helen A. Bridgman, with good order, faithful instruction, and fine proficiency.

School money, $103,33.

DISTRICT NO. 6.

SUMMER SCHOOL—10 weeks—18 scholars.

Commenced by Miss Samantha J. Spencer, who soon left on the account of sickness of friends. It was carried forward and completed by Miss Sarah Jane Dewey, and was a satisfactory and profitable school.

WINTER SCHOOL—10 weeks—25 scholars.

Taught by Miss Adaline Smith. A pleasant and successful school.

School money, $33,39.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

SUMMER SCHOOL—12 weeks—25 scholars.

WINTER SCHOOL—11 weeks—38 scholars.

Both schools were taught by Miss Eunice T. Miller, who maintained the best of order, giving no quarter to whispering and play; imparted thorough instruction, and rapidly improved her pupils. Some large boys, dissatisfied with her strictness, occasioned a little trouble, but finding she was nobly sustained by the District, in her wise regulations, they yielded at discretion.

School money, $69,40.

DISTRICT NO. 8.

SUMMER SCHOOL—10 weeks—15 scholars.

Taught by Miss Lucy B. Pelton, who, although quite young, maintained a fair degree of order, and promoted respectable proficiency.

WINTER SCHOOL—10 weeks—14 scholars

Taught by Mr. David T. Ross, with good order and fine improvement.

School money, $43,63.

DISTRICT NO. 9.

SUMMER SCHOOL—12 weeks—23 scholars.

Taught by Miss Lucy Durkee, who maintained good regulations and successfully advanced her pupils.

WINTER SCHOOL—11 weeks—18 scholars.

Taught by Miss Sarah B. Hubbard—a well governed and profitable school.

School money, $32,87.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

SUMMER SCHOOL—12 weeks—18 scholars.

Taught by Miss Emeline E. Ingalls. Her mild yet efficient discipline, her critical and thorough mode of instruction, made her school very valuable. *

WINTER SCHOOL.

Taught by Miss Susanna F. Sargent, an experienced and well educated teacher, who established strict regulations, and labored untiringly for the good of the school.

School money, $42,41.

DISTRICT NO. 11.

SUMMER SCHOOL—7 weeks—6 scholars.

Taught by Miss Almira Goss. The school was small, but well conducted, with good proficiency. No Winter school. School money, $25,67.

DISTRICT NO. 12.

SUMMER SCHOOL—8 weeks—12 scholars.

Taught by Miss Elizabeth Howe, who maintained a fair degree of order, and improved pretty well her pupils.

WINTER SCHOOL—6 weeks—14 scholars.

Taught by Mr. Halsey Boardman. This school was very unfortunate. The teacher soon lost the confidence of a large share of the District, who called upon the Superintending Committee to dismiss him. A day was appointed for the examination, but he left without a trial, leaving the the question unsettled as to blame. Mr. Joseph Burnham kept a short, successful school.

School money, $35,59.

DISTRICT NO. 13.

SUMMER SCHOOL—12 weeks—13 scholars.

Taught by Miss Maria Goodell, with good success.

WINTER SCHOOL—9 weeks—27 scholars.

Taught by Mr. H. H. Withington. The instruction was of the most thorough kind, with wholesome discipline and fine improvement.

DISTRICT NO. 14.

SUMMER SCHOOL—8 weeks—6 scholars.

Taught by Miss Samantha J. Smith—a well conducted and profitable school.

WINTER SCHOOL—11 weeks—9 scholars.

Taught by Miss Eliza M. Dewey, under whose wise management, the school made fine proficiency in study.

School money, $31,26.

DISTRICT NO. 15.

SUMMER SCHOOL—12 weeks—10 scholars.

Taught by Miss Miriam Eastman, an experienced teacher, who governed well her school, imparted thorough instruction, and improved rapidly her pupils.

WINTER SCHOOL—8 weeks—11 scholars.

Taught by Mr. Lafayette Rogers, under whose mild and efficient discipline, and faithful instruction, the school made fine improvement.

School money, 29,82.

DISTRICT NO. 16.

SUMMER SCHOOL—10 weeks—15 scholars.

Taught by Miss Harriet S. Towle, who established good regulations and successfully advanced her pupils.

WINTER SCHOOL—6 weeks—14 scholars.

Taught by Miss C. Augusta May—a well governed and profitable school.

School money, $28,09.

DISTRICT NO. 17.

No Summer School. WINTER SCHOOL.

12 weeks—20 scholars.

Taught by Miss Lucy Cutter. Good discipline, thorough instruction, and successful improvement.

School money, $42,11.
